Analysing Housing Prices Metropolitan Area Of India.

There has never been any chance of decrement in prices of propertes in metro cities of India

The prices of residential propertes in many places have witnessed a lot in prices per square feet.

The real estate prices in India are driven by builders and not by buyers

Modern housing at affordable rates,especially for poor

The city should be eco-friendly in nature

Proper sanitation and waste management facilities

Life in a metro is recognized to be busy, ever-moving, rigid and stressful

High cost of living, pollution, traffic congestion and social inequalities are some preval issues

Pollution is an awful existence for big city life and one of the most significant flaws

Transportation is not that much easy in metropolitan cities

Life is stress because people forget to focus on themselves and their time with nature

They faces high crime rate, less parking space and minimal greene due to deforestation
